Turbine Hall*

Step inside White Bay Power Station during the Biennale of Sydney and encounter more than a venue — a site reawakened by artists from across the globe. A place where industrial history meets groundbreaking contemporary practice, and every event unfolds within a stage of ideas, culture and connection.

White Bay Power Station offers a striking and versatile setting for premium corporate events. Surrounded by art, history, and atmosphere, your guests will enjoy a truly unique experience, with its industrial character, soaring ceilings, open interior spaces, and original architectural features providing a dramatic backdrop for any event.

Our Signature Experiences are designed as starting points, with every element, from menus and beverages to entertainment, theming, and guest numbers, fully customisable. Whether you're hosting a banquet-style dinner, cocktail event, product launch, or more casual mingling event, the venue can be adapted to suit your requirements.

Let us know the style of your event and expected capacities, and we will work with you to determine the best locations within this remarkable space.

REMEMORY

THE 25TH BIENNALE OF SYDNEY

Rememory connects the delicate space between remembering and forgetting.

Rememory explores the space between remembering and forgetting, reclaiming erased or repressed histories. The 25th Biennale will spotlight marginalised narratives, untold stories, and how memory shapes identity, belonging, and community.

Artistic Director Hoor Al Qasimi—recently named the world's most influential figure in contemporary art—will lead the Biennale with a community-driven curatorial approach, bringing together local and international artists to honour place, history, and innovation.
